OVERVIEW

Tom Wallace is a partner in the Corporate practice. Tom advises on a broad range of transactions, including public and private fundraisings, public and private acquisitions, joint ventures, and private equity and venture capital investments.

Tom has experience acting for leading global corporations, capital markets participants and ambitious mid-market and emerging high-growth companies in a range of sectors, including, in particular, financial services and technology. In particular, Tom leverages K&L Gates's global platform to advise high-growth technology businesses on raising capital and expanding their businesses globally.

Tom is recognised by The Legal 500 United Kingdom since 2023 for M&A: lower mid-market deals, £100M-£750M, and notes his experience in the financial services and technology space. Clients regard Tom as “a standout individual from the K&L Gates team,” explaining that he “demonstrated exceptional control over all aspects of the deal, effectively allocating work to lower cost resources when appropriate, and skilfully guiding us through our inquiries with a thoughtful and cost effective approach,” (The Legal 500 United Kingdom 2024).

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Prior to joining the firm, Tom worked in the legal department of Ashanti Goldfields Corporation in Accra, Ghana.

Tom qualified as a lawyer in 2006.
